Santa is bound that there shall be a penny's worth of the pretty gift thoughts he brought with him this year left with us to tell of his visit. He knows you want them. He knows how hard you find it to make the dollar go round, so he's made up his mind to help you stretch every cent you've saved for Xmas giving and buy two presents where you'd only thought you could afford one—real good ones too, instead of the cheaper sort you'd made up your mind to be satisfied with. So he's cut the prices—cut them in two in some places, for he's bound you shall be happy whether it suits us or not.

MAY FIGHT AGAIN TO PROVE HIS SANITY.

Opportunity When Thaw is Returned to New York.

Plans of the Fugitive's Counsel Closely Guarded.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Dec. 22.—Harry K. Thaw soon will make another fight to establish his sanity, in the opinion of several acquaintances who have followed his case with sympathetic interest. The opportunity, they confidently expect, will be afforded when in fulfillment of yesterday's ruling by the United States Supreme Court, he is returned to New York state to answer the indictment charging conspiracy to escape from the insane asylum at Matteawan.

The plans of the fugitive's counsel are closely guarded, but it is intimated that the efforts of the New York authorities to prove that Thaw was competent to commit an illegal act may be forced by the defense to a point where the evidence could be used to prove that he was perfectly sane. Thaw, it is said, is constantly in touch with his chief counsel, former Secretary of State Philander Knox, who is at his country home at Valley Forge, Pa., today. Thaw's secretary intimates that Mr. Knox may come to Manchester and say something more definite regarding the next move of counsel may be made known later. It is also suggested that a further move to delay the execution of the order of the United States Supreme Court for the removal of Thaw to New York is within the range of possibility, but if anything of this sort is contemplated the plan is known only to Thaw and his counsel. The order for his removal is not expected until the 30th, a grace permitted in such cases has elapsed.

Thaw is enjoying today the same liberty which has been his since he was placed in the custody of Sheriff Holman Drew of Coos county, near Judge Aldrich of the United States district court, issued the extradition order made by Governor Fernald pending a decision by the supreme tribunal. Sheriff Drew and a German hater about their charge in the home which he has occupied here since early in October, but their attitude is no more than heretofore. There is no reason to believe that the New York has taken precaution against any delay in obtaining the removal of the prisoner when the order for his removal is received. It is a source of friends of Thaw that the state detectives in the employ of New York state shipped into town during the night and that these men have since kept a close watch on the Thaw house.

Thaw himself appears no more nervous than he did when he ran into the arms of the New Hampshire militia after being trusted across the border by the Canadian police. He is content in good spirits, joking with his captors while the smile which has won him many friends never falls him. He was much pleased by a telephone message from his mother, in which she assured him that the fight for his liberty was by no means at an end. In one respect, however, Thaw has changed markedly. He refuses absolutely to talk about his case. For the first time since he killed Stanford White in 1906 he has turned a deaf ear to the newspaper men. These are

FRENCH THINK GERMANS ARE LOSING THEIR GRIP.

Berlin Claims They Are Firmly Holding the Conquered Ground.

Russia Challenges Recent Accounts of a Great Reverse to Her Armies in Poland.

In the opinion of the French military authorities, the Germans are beginning to lose their grip on France and Belgium. An official summary of the results achieved by the allies in their offensive movement recounts progress at many points, which "seems to have disturbed the enemy." It is asserted that the Germans are now fearful of attacks and are everywhere on the defensive. The latest communications from Berlin, however, telling of spirited offensive movements, with resulting gains, would make it appear that the German armies are firmly holding the conquered ground.

There is a similar conflict of statements concerning the campaign in the east: The Russian war office challenges recent accounts of a great German victory in Poland by denying "malevolent reports" of the last few days. While it is admitted at Petrograd that the recent retirement of the Russian forces to new positions was not entirely voluntary, the claim is made that the armies are now in safer and stronger positions.

The battle in France and Belgium has become more violent, both the Germans and the allies making furious attacks. Although it is said in an official French account of recent fighting that the Germans are now on the defensive everywhere, today's French war office statement speaks of German attacks at four points. The German statement in turn described several attacks by the allies.

So far as can be learned from these statements there have been no marked changes in positions, although the French assert that in one instance they captured nearly a mile of entrenched German positions. References to trenches taken and re-taken, to violent bayonet engagements and to heavy losses inflicted, show the desperate nature of the struggle.

Concerning the situation in Poland there is little new information. The German war office says fierce fighting is in progress there, and that at some points German troops have crossed the Bzura river, on their way toward Warsaw.

Davis Lloyd George, British chancellor of the exchequer, is quoted as saying that before spring Great Britain will have 500,000 more men at the front.

A STUBBORN SIEGE WARFARE PERSISTS.

Outcome of German Advance on Warsaw Still a Problem.

Movement of Austrians Through the Car- pathians Defeated.

LONDON, Dec. 22.—It is only at the northern and southern extremities of the line of battle in the eastern arena of the war that any marked change is to be noted today. In the western theatre siege warfare of a most stubborn and laborious kind persists. This, briefly, sums up the situation today both in the east and in the west so far as has been disclosed by the official statement.

The ultimate outcome of the German advance upon Warsaw is still problematical, as a decisive conflict has yet to be fought. Although the Russian centre has retired, it now has been re-inforced and it is holding a line on the Bzura, from its junction with the Vistula.

North of the Vistula, if the reports from Petrograd may be believed, the Germans have been whipped and pushed back over the frontier until their line now stretches behind Soldau, which is mid-way between Lauenburg and Niedenburg, in East Prussia.

To the south it is contended in Russian reports that the movement of the Austrians through the Carpathians has been defeated simultaneously with the defeat of the garrison at Przemyśl, which was hurried back after an attempted sortie from this fortress.

The British press comments today on General Joffre's order to advance, as issued to London from Berlin. The papers say that while they are unable to vouch for the authenticity of this document, it certainly seems to coincide with the pressure the allies are exerting all along the line. It is not believed in London, however, that the real work of driving the Germans out of Belgium will begin for some weeks.

Emperor William, according to the latest reports reaching here, has come from Berlin to the western front. This would indicate, in the view of the British observers, that he regards the situation there more important and critical than in the east.

Hobson Resolution for Prohibition Before the House.

An Aye and No Vote Expected to be Reached by Night.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Under a special rule, which was adopted without roll-call, the House began just after noon today an eight-hour debate on the Hobson resolution, to submit to the states a constitutional amendment for national prohibition. An aye and no vote will be reached tonight. A rolling chorus of "Aye" greeted the question and the House then plunged into one of the most interesting, if not the most spectacular, debate of recent years. The passage of the rule was conceded by those who oppose the Hobson resolution, many of whom voted for their rule to bring the resolution out to a vote. Passage of the resolution requires a two-thirds vote in the House today and a two-thirds vote later in the Senate, before it is submitted to the states.

More than 60 Congressmen had signified their intention of speaking. Charles before the Speaker's desk bore prohibition slogans, and draped along the gallery over the Speaker's chair was a great strip of paper upon which were pasted printed names of signers of prohibition petitions urging the adoption of the constitutional amendment.

Representative Henry led off, explaining that the rule made liberal provision for debate and amendment. Mr. Henry said he would vote for the rule but against the resolution. Representative Campbell of Kansas, ranking Republican of the rules committee, spoke for the rule and the resolution. Representative Hobson, author of the resolution, spoke supporting the rule. He said more than 6,000,000 people had petitioned Congress for the submission of the amendment. "If the

and his counsel. The order for his removal is not expected until the 23

Thaw is enjoying today the same restricted liberty which has been his since he was placed in the custody of Sheriff Holman Drew of Coös

now invariably referred to his secretary, and the latter has a stereotyped reply for all inquiries: "Mr. Thaw has nothing to say. The matter rests entirely with his counsel, who may have some announcement later."

It is said this morning that there would be no change for the present in the custody of Thaw's custody. He believed his liberty would not be curtailed.

Despite the strain he has been under since his escape from Mattawoman, a year ago last August, Thaw appears in good health and good spirits. He has improved physically during his stay here, as he has spent much time in the open and exercised regularly. He has occupied the home of Dr. Chauncey Clement on Elm street, in the residential district. His household consists of himself, of his secretary, E. C. Rice; Sheriff Drew, a Concord policeman and a housekeeper. He is allowed to go and come much as he pleases, but always in the company of the sheriff.

JEROME'S OPINION.

Expects Thaw's Counsel to Attempt to Keep Him for New York Bar.

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—William Travers Jerome is unprepared today to say when the legal machinery for the extradition of Harry K. Thaw from New Hampshire to this state will be put in motion, but intimates that he expects Thaw's counsel to make use of all legal obstacles which can be devised to keep him out of the toils of the New York bar. Thaw's lawyers have nothing to say.

Mr. Jerome indicates that he has reason to believe that Thaw's attorneys will start now habeas corpus proceedings in New Hampshire, and that he fears it may be a long time before Thaw sees the inside of the Tabor prison, where it is planned to keep him pending his trial on the charge of conspiracy to escape from the Mattawoman State Hospital for the criminal insane.

It was pointed out to Mr. Jerome today that, once removed to the Tabor, Thaw might be admitted to bail. "If he is admitted to bail," said Mr. Jerome, "the superintendent of Mattawoman will present a detainer, under which Thaw will be taken to Mattawoman as an insane man to await his trial. If he is released, I presume he will seek out such sentence as is imposed upon him, whereupon the detainer, consisting of his original commitment in Mattawoman, having been filed at his place of imprisonment, will occasion his return to Mattawoman."

TOO LARGE A QUESTION.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—President Wilson does not think it possible to pass at the present session of Congress the Newlands bill creating a commission for the systematic reclamation of rivers and harbors improvements. He declared today that he thought it too large a question to be disposed of in a short time.

Former Senator West of Georgia Expires in Valdosta.

VALDOSTA, Ga., Dec. 22.—Former United States Senator William S. West was found dead in bed at his home here early today. He had retired apparently in good health. Physicians stated that death apparently was due to apoplexy. Mr. West was appointed to the Senate March 1911, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator A. O. Bacon. His term expired last November, when Thomas W. Hardwick was elected.

ENGLISH ATTACKS REPULSED.

German Capture a Few Trenches in Western Argonne District.

BERLIN, Dec. 22, by wireless to London.—The German official report given out this afternoon read as follows:

"At Neupont and in the region around Ypres the situation yesterday was generally quiet."

"In order to re-capture the positions lost by them December 20 at St. Hubert and Givenchy the English forces, reinforced by French reinforcements, made desperate attacks during the day of yesterday and last night, all of which, however, were repulsed."

"In the region around Rheims the enemy succeeded in obtaining a firm foothold in his old positions."

"French attacks yesterday in the neighborhood of Albert, to the north-east of Compiègne, at Soissons, and at Perthes were repulsed, with heavy losses to the French."

"In the western part of the Argonne district we captured a few trenches in the eastern Argonne, to the north and north-west of Verdun. French attacks were repulsed, with heavy losses to the French."

"The situation in East and West Prussia is unchanged."

"In Poland our troops engaged in a fierce battle for possession of branches of the Bzura and Narew rivers. In many instances they crossed over triumphantly already in their possession."

"On the right bank of the River Pilica the fighting by the German allies continues."

"Unfortunately it was discovered yesterday after the publication of the army order of General Joffre, addressed to his troops, that this communication contained the following appendix:

"This order must be made known to all our troops this evening; its publication in the press must be prevented."

LORD MAYOR SPEAKS.

Emperor and Empress of Russia Given Great Ovation in Moscow.

MOSCOW, via Petrograd, Dec. 21. (Delayed in transmission).—Emperor Nicholas and the Empress of Russia, arriving here today, were given an enthusiastic reception. At the railway station the emperor was welcomed by the civil and military authorities and the delegates of the Senate.

At the railway station, the new lord mayor of Moscow, in his speech presenting the emperor and the empress, pointed out the loyalty of the people to the emperor and thanked him for the benefits arising from the abolition of the government monopoly on vodka, which was largely due, he declared, to the efforts of the emperor. The lord mayor spoke also of the brave fight the Russian army was making in the dead and predicted victory and a resurrection of justice for all Slavs and for all peoples. The emperor responded briefly, thanking the lord mayor for the sentiments expressed.

SCENE OF ANIMATION.

War Session Arouses Interest in Chamber of Deputies.

PARIS, Dec. 22.—The Chamber of Deputies, long before the hour set for the meeting today, was a scene of animation. The extraordinary war session has aroused interest rivaling that which was manifested in the session of August 4, held after the declaration of war.

"The plan of some of the members to ask for a secret session has been abandoned. A large number of the deputies have pledged themselves not to stir up debates, but on the contrary to observe a highly patriotic attitude while listening to the government's declarations and to vote the necessary credits."

Among the deputies who will not be present today are M. Delory, M. Chesquiere, and M. Basile, who are held as hostages by the Germans in the vicinity of Lille, and M. Pasqual, who has been taken prisoner. Those present at today's session include Henri Durré and Pierre Melin from Valenciennes, and Daniel Vincent from the Department of Nord, all of whom encountered great difficulty in reaching the capital.

AGREEMENT REACHED.

Labor Troubles in Stockton, Cal., Comes to An End.

STOCKTON, Cal., Dec. 21.—Labor troubles here between unions and the Merchants, Manufacturers and Employers Association terminated last night, leaving everything as far as possible where it was July 6 when the trouble started.

The unions agreed to stop picketing and boycotting. The association agreed to withdraw in writing a letter they wrote to the unions abolishing the closed shop. Wages and hours are to be as formerly. The Stockton situation was watched by union labor interests all over the United States, because they said they considered that an effort was being made on the part of employers to start a movement which would lead to non-union conditions in Oakland and finally in San Francisco. For the settlement of future differences an arbitration board is provided.

Lake Shore Consolidated With New York Central Road.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 22.—Consolidation of the Lake Shore Railroad Company with the New York Central Railway Company was effected here today at a meeting of Lake Shore stockholders, when they ratified action taken by New York Central stockholders 20 days ago. The merger involves $300,000,000. Practically all the stockholders voted by proxy. Clarence H. Verner of Boston, holder of five shares of Lake Shore stock, opposed the consolidation on behalf of himself and "several other stockholders."

It was announced that a meeting of the directors would be held within 30 days after the "usual legal notice" of the merger had been given.

material progress in this direction. In the region of Lihons three attacks of the enemy were repulsed.

"We made slight gains to the east and to the west of Tracy-le-Val, and our artillery delivered an efficacious fire on the plateau of Nouvron."

"In the sectors of the Alsne and of Rhelms there were artillery engagements. In Champagne and in the Argonne, in the vicinity of Soissons, there have been violent bayonet engagements. We have not made perceptible progress in this region. We have occupied in the suburbs of Perthes-le-Turpin three German positions representing a front of entrenchments 1,500 yards long."

"To the northeast of Beaucourt we have consolidated the positions occupied by us December 20, and we have recaptured all trenches in the vicinity of St. Calvère."

"In the forest of La Grueuse our progress continues."

"At St. Hubert we repulsed an attack in the forest of Halaux. Here, too, we recaptured two-thirds of it, but we re-captured two-thirds of it."

"Between the Argonne and the Meuse there has been slight progress. In the suburbs of Vanquères, to the north of the forest of Malignourt, our troops were successful in making their way through a barbed wire entanglement now in taking possession of certain trenches of the enemy, where they maintained themselves."

"On the right bank of the Meuse in the forest of Conesnoye, we first lost and then re-conquered, after a sharp fight, the territory gained by us December 20."

"From the heights of the Meuse to the Vosges there is nothing to report."

REACHED WITHOUT PRESSURE.

Agreement by Roumania to Restore Province to Bulgaria.

PETROGRAD, via London, Dec. 22.—The Bulgarian minister announced today that an agreement had been reached between Roumania and Bulgaria, under which Roumania will restore to Bulgaria the province of Dobruja and most of the other territory which she acquired from Bulgaria as a result of the second Balkan war.

"This agreement has been reached without pressure for either Germany or the allies," said an official connected with the Bulgarian ministry. "We shall continue to be neutral and believe that Roumania, although she has no cause to fear us, also will remain neutral."

It has been asserted here that the fear of Bulgaria alone had prevented Roumania from invading Austria and entering the war on the side of the allies. "If Greece would return Kavala and the Macedonian territory she annexed during the second Balkan war, and Serbia would restore us the Macedonian provinces she occupied, despite her agreement of 1912, no Balkan war could be re-constructed," said the Bulgarian official.

"Under those circumstances a lasting peace would be established in the Balkans. But unfortunately neither Greece nor Serbia has shown an intention to revise their treaty of Bucharest."

AVIATOR DROWNED.

Lieutenant Gerstner Lost in Flight From San Diego to Los Angeles.

Lieutenant P. J. Gerstner, observer in one of the six United States army scout aeroplanes which started Monday on a flight from San Diego to Los Angeles, was drowned in the sea, 10 miles north of Oceanside. Captain B. H. Miller, pilot of the wrecked machine, was rescued by Captain L. W. Patterson, another army aviator, whose aeroplane had been wrecked near where Lieutenant Gerstner met his death. Captain Patterson saw the wreckage of Miller's machine in the water and summoned aid. Miller was rescued, badly bruised by the fall and exhausted. Gerstner's body was recovered.

Four of the six machines which entered the flight were brought to the earth near Oceanside. The other two reached Los Angeles in safety. Some of the machines were damaged. The aviators responsible for the accidents, the aeroplanes were supposed to be in the hands of the United States army, but were in the hands of the United States navy. The contest was for the prize of $10,000.

Lieutenant Frederick J. Gerstner was the eighteenth aviator to give his life in the interest of aviation. He was a son of Lieutenant Gerstner, who died at the battle of Gettysburg in 1863. He was born in 1890, and was a member of the United States army. He was killed in the crash of his aeroplane on Monday.

NEW WAR MISSILE.

John Hays Hammond, Jr. Invents a Projectile for Siege Guns.

A new type of projectile, which would scatter a white-hot mixture of molten steel over the object of attack, and at the same time permeate the atmosphere with a deadly gas which would make it impossible for fire fighters to approach, has been invented by John Hays Hammond, Jr., according to a statement made by the inventor. The new missile may soon appear in the European war, as some of the belligerent nations are now negotiating for its purchase. The United States government is conducting experiments with the new projectile at Sandy Hook.

The missile is designed for use in siege guns, as an all in destroyers, and in dirigibles. Hammond explained that the projectile carries an aluminum nitride mixture, which five seconds after the projectile is discharged, turned the steel inside to a white-hot mixture. The temperature of 3000 degrees Fahrenheit. When the trigger is pulled the missile is exploded, by which contents setting fire to whatever inflammable material strikes. To avoid the possibility of any one in the locality overlooking the flames, Mr. Hammond said he had equipped the projectile with a chamber filled with a droveword and the fumes of which are deadly.

BEAUTIFUL KASHMIR.

The Valleys and Uplands Have a Great Diversity of Scenery.

[W. J. World Magazine.] It has been said that India is the richest jewel in the British crown. It is one cannot realize the greatness of the gem to the full until one has journeyed for a space in that variable and beautiful land. The only way to get a true picture of the country is to see it. The diversity of scenery, or is so full of variety that it is impossible to describe it. The valleys and uplands have a great diversity of scenery. The valleys are fertile and the uplands are rugged. The scenery is beautiful and the climate is pleasant. The people are friendly and the food is good. The country is a paradise for the traveler.

AVIATOR DROWNED.

Lieutenant Gerstner Lost in Flight From San Diego to Los Angeles.

Lieutenant P. J. Gerstner, observer in one of the six United States army scout aeroplanes which started Monday on a flight from San Diego to Los Angeles, was drowned in the sea, 10 miles north of Oceanside, Captain L. H. Muller, pilot of the wrecked machine, was rescued by Captain L. W. Patterson, another army aviator, whose aeroplane had been wrecked near where Lieutenant Gerstner met his death. Captain Patterson saw the wreckage of Muller's machine saw the water and summoned aid. Muller was rescued, badly bruised by the fall and exhausted. Gerstner's body was recovered.

One of the six machines which entered the flight were brought to the earth near Oceanside. The other five reached Los Angeles in safety. Stormy weather and bad air conditions were held responsible for the accidents. The aeroplanes were supposed to make the flight from Los Angeles to report the number and distribution of troops manœuvring in the vicinity of San Diego. The contest was for trophy. Lieutenant Frederick J. Gerstner was the eighteenth aviator to give his life in the interest of government aviation since Lieutenant Selfridge fell to his death at Fort Meyer, Va., in 1903, testing the first aeroplane for the army. Fourteen army officers, two naval officers and two civilians were taken up the total toll. Lieutenant Gerstner was only 23 years old. He was born in Michigan and was appointed to the Military Academy in 1905.

NEW WAR MISSILE.

John Hays Hammond, Jr., Invents a Projectile for Siege Guns.

A new type of projectile, which would render a white-hot mixture of molten steel, over the object of attack, and at the same time permeate the atmosphere with a deadly gas which would make it impossible for fire fighters to approach, has been invented by John Hays Hammond, Jr., according to a statement made by the inventor. The new missile may soon appear in the European war, as some of the belligerent nations are now negotiating for its purchase. The United States government is conducting experiments with the new projectile at Sandy Hook.

The missile is designed for use in siege guns, as an aid in destroying towns and dirigible balloons. Mr. Hammond explained that the projectile carries an aluminum nitrate mixture, which, five seconds after the projectile is discharged, travels the steel inside to a white-hot mixture at a temperature of 500 degrees Fahrenheit. When the projectile hits the targets it explodes, its white-hot contents setting fire to whatever inflammable material it strikes. To avoid the possibility of any one in the locality quenching the flames, Mr. Hammond said he has equipped the projectile with a chamber filled with hydrocyanic acid, the fumes of which are deadly.

BEAUTIFUL KASHMIR.

The Valleys and Uplands Have a Great Diversity of Scenery.

[Wide World Magazine.]

It has been said that India is the brightest jewel in the British crown, but one cannot realize the brightness of the gem to the full until one has returned for a space in that veritable dreamland situated in the wedge of mountains forming the north centre boundary of that peninsula. No other country in the world can boast of such a diversity of scenery, or is so full of beauty as the valleys and uplands of Kashmir. Snow-covered mountains, pine-clad hills, rushing torrents, clear streams, limpid lakes and broad, alluvial plains all combine to make up this wonderful, which forms the summer haunt of many royal princes from the sunny countries of India. Of late, alas, the voluptuous globe traveler has discovered it, and his excessive supply of cash brings higher prices, silk socks and white waistcoats into a paradise where "botted shirts" and other appurtenances of an evil civilization should never have been allowed to penetrate.

ECONOMY

Is particularly desirable this year in buying Christmas presents.

Santa has been making frequent visits to our store lately because he knows he can get something "useful" and something "better." That means economy. He knows too that we've a nice assortment to pick from, particularly in comforts, fells, slippers, etc., the usual holiday gifts.

Take a little tip from Santa!

On eagle wings ascending Above earth's fret and care; Inching their wings ascending, Inching their wings ascending, Man's portioned time for running, By fifteen years well spent, Thy soul in God's light shining, Upon His will intent—

Our city has been favored By time extended days; Thy life, with grace well savored, Thou witnessed for her praise, For all thy faithful teaching, To thy high standards reaching, Thy life shall us inspire, Thy life shall us inspire.

We need thee with us longer— These, soul and body young; The presence makes us stronger, When hearts with pain are wrong. When care our strength is spending, Thy life shall us inspire, Upon the Lord attending, Thou canst not faint nor tire.

Above earth's warfare raging, Thy heart, with strife untorn, In Christ's own work engaging, Points to a never unborn, Thy friends, each one thy debtor, To thee their thanks extend, Thy life made us better, We're proud to call thee friend.

ANNEXED EGYPT.

The annexation of Egypt does not change practically the status of that domain from what it has been for 32 years. So far as the Turkish power is concerned, it does not alter the conditions which have existed for about 75 years.

Mehemet Ali, viceroy of Egypt, revolted against the Sultan twice about the year 1840. The Sultan was wholly unable to stop him and was saved only by the intervention of some of the European nations, which did not care to have so masterful a man and so effective a soldier in Constantinople, and perhaps feared the dismemberment of Turkey and a general war over the distribution. One of the insurrections carried the army of Mehemet Ali and his son Ibrahim very near to Constantinople. The viceroy failed to overthrow his sovereign, but was established in practical independence in Egypt. He paid tribute to the Sultan, and this tribute will probably have to be paid still, for it is a part of the security pledged to the holders of Turkish bonds, and the probability is that these bonds are held principally in England and France. Nevertheless, from the time of Mehemet Ali's insurrection Egypt has been practically independent of the Sultan.

In 1852 there was an insurrection led by Arabi Pasha against the Khedive. England and France had joint rights of intervention, and England proposed joint action. France was reluctant to use force, and on account of the value of the Suez canal as a highway to India, England would not have Egypt the scene of disorder and revolution, or allow a powerful Khedive to set himself up in Cairo. So England bombarded Alexandria and established a virtual, though not an ostensible, protectorate. The administration of justice, the abolition of forced service, the improvement of irrigation by the dam at Assouan, and the improved character of military service, have made the condition of Egyptian peasantry immeasurably better than it was under the independent Khedives or the Turkish authority, but the Khedive has not enjoyed being a dummy, and of course there are elements in Egypt which have been restless under British domination. They did not like the name of the thing, or the restrictions which a civilized government imposes upon Oriental methods of administration, tax collecting and private enrichment.

SENATORIAL COURTESY.
On matters of legislation Senators may be double enough under the mandates of the President. They will yield to his demands on currency and banking, on the intrusion of the government into the sea-carrying trade, and on various other points, but when patronage is touched the Senators are up in arms. The interests of the country they may yield to the demands from the White House, but when their own interests are involved they will fight nothing.

President Wilson has run against "senatorial courtesy." All other Presidents have at least since the "senatorial courtesy" of the Senate has amended the constitution. The prerogative of making nominations belongs to the President, but the Senate has the prerogative of confirming or rejecting, and many years ago, the members of that body established among themselves the rule that they would not confirm a nomination if it did not please the Senators from the state of the person nominated. In other words, they are determined to control all the federal appointments in their respective states.

The rule is absolute in the case of Senators of the majority party; it has sometimes been enforced when the objecting members belonged to the minority party. Occasionally the President has succeeded in breaking down the application of the rule, but this is very seldom. If he names a New York man who is not supported by the New York Democratic Senator he cannot be confirmed. What his merits are does not matter; the Senator from his state does not approve and the others will not confirm a New Yorker whom the New York administration Senator opposes.

Thus the Senators stand together to curtail the President's constitutional prerogative and to strengthen the grip of every Senator on the patronage of his own state. The assassination of President Garfield grew out of the nomination for collector of New York of a man to whom Conkling was bitterly opposed.

MAKING MEN FIRST.

It is related of the head of one of the big plants in the West that he stated in an interview that he is trying to make men first, and steel as a by-product of men. This is a forceful way of putting the idea that he cares more for the men he employs than for the business, and if one must suffer at the expense of the other he would prefer that it be the business. Just how literally this is true perhaps not even the man who made the statement can tell. He must, however, be given credit for believing it and for making it good. The test might be too severe if it should come to an actual condition where he must choose between the welfare of his employees and the success of his business. It is only fair to presume, however, that under his management the good of the men and the success of the enterprise are so closely related that they do not in any sense or degree conflict and what pertains to the one helps the other.

It would be well if more men regarded the interests of those they employ, as equal, if not paramount, to those of the business in which they are engaged. There can hardly be any question that if this were true there would be much less trouble in the industrial world and much greater success in business generally. The fact has not been learned very widely yet, apparently, that identity in interest of employer and employee is a factor which enters largely into the success of any enterprise. In the long run and in the general trend of industry the employer who cares for his men and looks out for them in all reasonable ways has the least trouble with them, and the absence of clashing interests between employer and employee tends strongly toward success.

The man quoted did not make his assertion in a boasting manner or mood, but simply as a statement of fact from his point of view, yet it is distinctly creditable that he entertains such sentiments and he is to be warmly commended for his attitude. With many men conducting business on that general principle there would be much less disturbance in the industrial world and much more success in commercial life.

HONEST ENOUGH TO WITHDRAW.

Few men have the courage or the honesty to resign a position which they have obtained for political reasons, when they find that they are not fitted to retain it. The withdrawal of James A. Clancy as warden of Sing Sing prison is a conspicuous example of a man who is willing and honorable enough to do this when he knows he is not filling the position he holds with the success which should be realized. He thought when he accepted the place that he could be an efficient warden, but discovered after serious and earnest attempts to make good at the task that he was not fitted for it, and promptly sent in his resignation. That is the type of man needed in public office, even though he secured his position through political influence, and could not fill acceptably the place to which he was appointed. He knew when he had failed and was not ashamed to confess that he had done so, and to acknowledge that he could not do what was required of him as well as some one else could.

There is a lesson to be learned from this incident which should not escape the attention of all interested in politics—that it is the sheerest folly to believe that any political worker can fill any public office without regard to previous experience or personal ability. From a business point of view that statement would be accepted without argument or second thought, and it should be admitted with equal readiness in politics. There are places which men of ordinary ability can occupy acceptably, without much doubt, but there are others in every community, every state and every department of the federal government which can be filled successfully only by men fitted naturally, and by training for the particular kind of work. Under such conditions, to appoint to a position demanding special preparation one who has not had any experience in that direction is worse than folly, for it is criminal to endanger the public service and the integrity of the man who is put in a place which he cannot fill and given duties of great importance which he cannot perform.

There should be as much care in the selection of men for public office as in the choice for responsible positions in business or law. Until this is done there will continue to be conspicuous failures in public life, and in few cases will those who fail prove honest and brave enough to acknowledge it and retire.

Secretary Danieles' tabulation of the expenditures of the five leading powers of the world for their navies in the past 15 years shows that the United States, while it has doubled its outlay, is still far behind the other nations. Germany has more than tripled its appropriations. Japan has increased its budget nearly 15 times. Great Britain has more than doubled its already large expenditure, with many continuing appropriations. These figures are expected to demolish the argument of the "little navy" men in Congress and result in a more extended program for this country.

Newport escaped a snowstorm which struck other parts of New England with considerable force. Even other places in Rhode Island had several inches of snow, which was turned into slush by the rain, and later into ice, making walking treacherous. Newport goes dry and today.

The days will begin to lengthen Wednesday. Will the cold begin to strengthen?

Only two more full days for Christmas shopping.

BOSTON LESSENS FIRE LOSS

Saving Due to Enforcement of Building Laws—Officers Reduced.

In a single year Boston's fire losses have been decreased from $4,000,000 to less than $900,000, according to Mayor Curley's statement before the Boston Safety Committee. He said this saving was largely due to the enforcement of the building laws, and that the work had cost the officials the enmity of a number of business men and of the public generally. "There has been much complaint about the enforcement of these laws, but the building commissioner gave up a remunerative position to take up the work, and so long as he continues to enforce the law for all the people I will stand by him," he said. "Within 12 months every unsafe or dilapidated building risk in Boston will be level with the ground."

The insurance companies have recently granted a reduction in rates in Boston, which has been improved and Mayor Curley is working on the fire department for its betterment as well as for economy. One of the changes to be made is that of having only one officer to a building, even if it has several stories. Instead of an officer for every five men, in Newport there has been a cancelled protest against the enforcement of the building laws, and the reduction of officers is the feature of the re-organization scheme here.

GERRY TO DINE CHILDREN.

Another Christmas Entertainment Planned for Providence Youngsters.

About 1200 needy children of Providence and vicinity will be guests of Congressman Peter G. Gerry at his second Christmas dinner, Christmas morning, in Infantry hall, Providence. Last year Congressman Gerry established his custom of entertaining the little ones on Christmas day, when he was host to more than 1,000 children. This year's event will be carried out along the same lines, with the exception that the mothers of the little ones may accompany them and share in the Congressman's hospitality.

The dinner will include a full course turkey dinner with candy, fruit and refreshments. A real live Santa Claus will be on hand to welcome the children and help keep them in good humor while the meal is in progress, and to distribute the presents which will be given to each child at the conclusion.

A feature of the occasion will be the music, which will be furnished by Fay's band. The program will include a long list of children's songs and songs of Santa Claus, and the children will be given an opportunity to sing each of them. Last year the singing was a pleasing feature, the children entering into the spirit of the occasion with a will.

Secretary Smith has made arrangements with a committee of young women, who will care for the wants of the youngsters and will watch over them during the meal.

As was the case last year, tickets are being distributed through the agency of several charitable organizations, this being considered the best method of placing them in the hands of children who need them most.

Last Christmas a number of persons applied for admission to the galleries, and several similar requests have already been received for this year's event. Congressman Gerry is desirous that the children should not be disturbed by the excitement of the occasion, and for this reason asks that no requests be made for places in the balcony.

MIDDLETOWN.

Bills Ordered Paid at Meeting of Town Council and Court of Probate.

Public School Committee Elects Treasurer and Officer and Taker of the Census for 1915.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]
At the regular meeting of the town council and court of probate held at the town hall Monday afternoon, all the members were present.

In town council, the town clerk reported that he had made formal application to the trustees of the Newport Hospital as to whether persons having contagious diseases and residing in Middletown, would be admitted for treatment, and if so upon what terms. In reply he had been told by the president of the hospital, William F. Safford, that while the hospital declined to enter into any written contract with the town of Middletown, or give assurance of the admission of any patients, if there are vacant beds persons will be received from Middletown, at the usual rate of $150 per day.

The town clerk also reported that the claim of $10 against James F. Eiselek, for damages to the bridge at the junction of Paradise avenue with Green End avenue, had not been adjusted, though it probably would be. He had conferred with Mr. Eiselek and his attorney, John W. Hancock, and had secured an amicable settlement. The damage resulted from the overturning of an automobile last September, which was driven by Eiselek.

The following accounts were allowed and ordered paid from the town treasury: William H. Sisson, for expense of constructing road bed in Forest avenue—Peckham Brothers Company, crushed stone and use of steam roller, $548.80; for ordinary repairs in district No. 1, $43.50; Mercury Publishing Company, 200 stamped envelopes furnished town treasurer, $6. printings assessors' notices, $2; blanks for elections and licenses for peddlers, $5; 75 voting lists, $25; 42 liquor ballots, $7; 700 tax books, $258.70; Arthur A. Brigham, services as janitor, $7.50; James Bloomfield, police duty at town hall, $2; Wright Brothers, for printing signs, $20; Thomas G. Ward, bounty due for killing 33 skunks, $15.50; Charles Peckham, setting markers in Middletown cemetery, preparing deeds of distal lots, $10; Edward J. Edwards, $10.10; Jeannette Goffe, clerical work in office of town clerk, five weeks, $50; Providence Telephone Company, use of three telephones, $6.57; Bay State Street Railway Company, electric light in town hall, $2.75; Edward J. Peckham, coal and wood, $24.32; accounts for the relief of the poor, $29.00; total, $1853.10.

Alan R. Wheeler was appointed a police constable.
In court of probate the fourth account of Abel F. Davis, administrator, de bonis non with the will annexed on the estate of Isaac Barker, and his fourth account as guardian of Laura A. Barker, were allowed and ordered paid.

The petition of John C. Burke, administrator with the will annexed on the estate of Alice P. Mayer, for authority to sell the farm formerly belonging to Mrs. Mayer, known as "Glate Hill Farm," was granted.

The administrator was authorized to sell at private sale, for not less than $20,000, a first mortgage in the sum of $20,000, with the United States Fidelity & Guaranty Company of Baltimore as surety, to secure the proper application of proceeds of sale.
The petition of Paul A. Andrews and Walter S. Andrews, the will of Maria F. Andrews was proved and passed for record and letters testamentary were directed to issue to the petitioners, and the executor giving bond in the sum of $15,000, without surety, to pay debts and legacies.

All parties in interest assenting thereto, notice was waived and on the petition of Annie M. Ward, the will of A. Herbert Ward was proved and ordered recorded, and letters testamentary granted to petitioner, as sole executrix, she giving her personal bond in the sum of $500, to pay debts and legacies.

The December meeting of the public school committee was held at the town hall Monday evening. Full attendance being present, James A. Taber was re-elected trustee officer and Mrs. Elisha A. Peckham was re-appointed to take the school census for 1915. Plans were discussed for the bettering of school conditions.

Those going early to Newport Monday morning experienced great difficulty in keeping their horses on their feet, the snow and sleet making slippery traveling.

The Christmas festival of the Church of the Holy Cross will be held Monday evening.

PORTSMOUTH.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]
Walter Gray, oldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Gray of Mitchell's lane, was riding a bicycle near the Middle-town line last week when an automobile entering up behind threw him from his wheel, bruising him considerably, though no bones were broken. The driver of the automobile stopped and rendered such assistance as he could.

HOW A SNAKE TRAVELS.

[Youth's Companion.]
A snake moves along the ground by contracting the ribs on one side of its body and separating those on the other side. This forms one curve. Another contraction takes place at the end of the expanded side, and bends the body in the opposite direction. Thus, there is a series of alternate contractions and spreadings of the numerous ribs throughout the length of the reptile as it lies on the ground. When the snake is in motion, some part of the body must secure itself against a rough or projecting surface, from which the forward part can be pushed, and the hinder length is drawn to a new position. The row of shields along the snake's belly is very quick in seizing upon the slightest projection, so that any rough surface affords a good track. The snake uses the same process. It must find points of vantage for its curves. It cannot possibly wind itself spirally round a tree.

What his merits are does not matter; the Senator from New York does not approve and the others will not confirm.
New Yorker whom the New York administration Senator opposes.
Thus the Senators stand together to curtail the President's constitutional prerogative and to strengthen the grip of every Senator on the patronage in his own state. The assassination of President Garfield grew out of the nomination for collector of New York of a man to whom Conkling was bitterly opposed.

MAKING MEN FIRST.
It is related of the head of one of the big plants in the West that he stated in an interview that he is trying to make men first, and steel as a by-product of men. This is a forcible way of putting the idea that he cares more for the men he employs than for the business, and if one must suffer at the expense of the other he would prefer that it be the business. Just how literally that is true perhaps not even the man who made the statement can tell. He must, however, be given credit for believing it and for making it good. The test might be too severe if it should come to an actual condition where he must choose between the welfare of his employees and the success of his business. It is only fair to presume, however, that under his management the good of the men and the success of the enterprise are so closely related that they do not in any sense or degree conflict and what pertains to the one helps the other.

It would be well if more men regarded the interests of those they employ, as equal, if not paramount, to those of the business in which they are engaged. There can hardly be any question that if this were true there would be much less trouble in the industrial world and much greater success in business generally. The fact has not been learned very widely yet, apparently, that identity in interest of employer and employee is a factor which enters largely into the success of any enterprise. In the long run and in the general trend of industry the employer who cares for his men and looks out for them in all reasonable ways has the least trouble with them, and the absence of clashing interests between employer and employee tends strongly toward success.

The man quoted did not make his assertion in a boasting manner, or mood, but simply as a statement of fact from his point of view, yet it is distinctly creditable that he entertains such sentiments and he is to be warmly commended for his attitude. With many men conducting business on that general principle there would be much less disturbance in the industrial world and much more success in commercial life.

HONEST ENOUGH TO WITHDRAW.

Few men have the courage or the honesty to resign a position, which they have obtained for political reasons, when they find that they are not fitted to retain it. The withdrawal of James A. Clancy as warden of Sing Sing prison is a conspicuous example of a man who is willing and honorable enough to do this when he knows he is not filling the position he holds with the success which should be realized. He thought when he accepted the place that he could be an efficient warden, but discovered after serious and earnest attempts to make good at the task that he was not fitted for it, and promptly sent in his resignation. That is the type of man needed in public office, even though he secured his position through political influence and could not fill acceptably the place to which he was appointed. He knew when he had failed and was not ashamed to confess that he had done so, and to acknowledge that he could not do what was required of him as well as some one else could.

In the past 15 years shows that the United States, while it has doubled its outlay, is still far behind the other nations. Germany has more than tripled its appropriations, Japan has increased its budget nearly 15 times, Great Britain has more than doubled its already large expenditure, with many continuing appropriations. These figures are expected to demolish the argument of the "little navy" men in Congress and result in a more extended program for this country.

Newport escaped a snowstorm which struck other parts of New England with considerable force. Even other places in Rhode Island had several inches of snow, which was turned into slush by the rain, and later into ice, making walking treacherous. Newport goes dry shod today.

The days will begin to lengthen Wednesday. Will the cold begin to strengthen?

Only two more full days for Christmas shopping.

BOSTON LESSONS FIRE LOSS

Saving Due to Enforcement of Building Laws—Officers Reduced.

In a single year Boston's fire losses have been decreased from $4,000,000 to less than $300,000, according to Mayor Curley's statement before the Boston Safety Society. He said this saving was largely due to the enforcement of the building laws, and that the work had cost the officials the salary of a number of business men and of the public generally. "There has been much complaint about the enforcement of these laws, but the building commissioner gave up a remunerative position to take up the work, and so long as he continues to enforce the law for all the people I will stand by him, if I never hold office again. Within 12 months every building in Boston will be up to the standard of safety and fireproofing. The insurance companies have recently granted a reduction in rates in localities which have been improved, and Mayor Curley is working on the fire department for its betterment as well as for economy. One of the changes to be made is that of having only one officer to a building, even if it has several floors, and every fireman in Newport there has been a cancelled protest against the enforcement of the building laws, and the reduction of officers is one of the features of the re-organization scheme here.

GERRY TO DINE CHILDREN.

Another Christmas Entertainment Planned for Providence Youngsters.

About 1200 needy children of Providence and vicinity will be guests of Congressman Peter G. Gerry at his second Christmas dinner, Christmas morning, in infancy hall, Providence. Last year Congressman Gerry established his custom of entertaining the little ones on Christmas day, when he was host to more than 1,000 children. This year's event will be carried out along the same lines, with the exception that the mothers of the little ones may accompany them and share in the Congressman's hospitality.

The dinner will include a full course turkey dinner, with candy, fruit and refreshments. A real live Santa Claus will be on hand to welcome the children and help keep them in good humor while the meal is in progress, and to distribute the presents which will be given to each child at the conclusion.

A feature of the occasion will be the music, which will be furnished by Gerry's band. The program will include a long list of children's airs as well as the latest popular pieces, and the diners will be given an opportunity to sing each of them. Last year the singing was a pleasing feature, the children entering into the spirit of the occasion with a will.

Secretary Smithers has made arrangements with a committee of young women, who will care for the wants of the youngsters and will watch over them during the meal.

As was the case last year, tickets are being distributed through the agency of several charitable organizations, this being considered the best method of placing them in the hands of children who need them most.

Last Christmas a number of persons applied for admission to the galleries, and several similar requests have already been received for this year's event. Congressman Gerry is desirous that the children should not be disturbed in the full enjoyment of the occasion, and for this reason asks that no requests be made for places in the balcony.

MIDDLETOWN.
Bills Ordered Paid at Meeting of Town Council and Court of Probate.

Public School Committee Elects Trust Officer and Taker of the Census for 1915.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]
At the regular meeting of the town council and court of probate held at the town hall Monday afternoon, all the members were present.

In town council, the town clerk reported that he had made formal application to the trustees of the Newport Hospital as to whether persons having contagious diseases, and residing in Middletown, would be admitted for treatment, and if so upon what terms. In reply he had been told by the president of the hospital, William P. Buffum, that while the hospital declined to enter into any formal contract with the town of Middletown, or give assurance of the admission of any patients, if there are vacant beds persons will be received from Middletown, at the usual rate of $1.50 per day.

The town clerk also reported that the claim of $10 against the estate of E. Esbeck for damages to the bridge at the junction of Paradise avenue with Green End avenue, had not been adjusted, though it probably would be. He had conferred with Mr. Esbeck and his attorney, Judge Mahoney, who both favored an amicable settlement. The damages resulted from the overturning of an automobile last September, which was driven by Esbeck. The following accounts were allowed and ordered paid from the town treasury: William H. Gisson, for expense of constructing road bed in Forest avenue—Peckham Brothers Company, crushed stone and use of steam roller, $346.88; J. A. Vanleek, crushed stone and ordinary repairs to district No. 1, $3.50; Mercury Publishing Company, 200 stamped envelopes furnished town treasurer, $5; print assessors' notices, $3; blanks for petitions and licenses for peddlers, $5; 75 rolling pins, $25; 425 liquor bottles, $7; 100 tax books, $23.75; Arthur A. Brigham, services as janitor, $7.50; James J. Noonfield, police duty at town hall, $5; Wright Brothers, lettering signs, $20; Thomas G. Ward, bounty due for killing 33 skunks, $16.50; Charles Peckham, setting markers in Middletown cemetery, putting deeds of burial lots, setting stones, etc., $10.10; Jeannette Coffey, clerical work in office of town clerk, $5; J. W. Peckham, telephone company, use of three telephones, $4.57; Day State Street Railway Company, electric lighting at town hall, $2.76; Edward S. Peckham, coal and wood, $21.22; accounts for the relief of the poor, $39.00; total, $1,053.10.

Alan R. Wheeler was appointed a police constable.

In court of probate the fourth account of Alfred P. Davis, administrator, de bonis non with the will annexed on the estate of Isaac Barker, and his fourth account as guardian of Laura A. Barker, were allowed and ordered recorded.

The petition of John C. Burke, administrator with the will annexed on the estate of Alice P. Mayer, for authority to sell the farm formerly belonging to Mrs. Mayer, known as "State Hill Farm," was granted. The administrator was authorized to sell at private sale, for not less than $20,000, first six lots in the town of Middletown, with the United States Fidelity & Guaranty Company of Baltimore as surety, to secure the proper application of proceeds of sale.

On the petition of Paul A. Andrews and Walter S. Andrews, the will of Maria F. Andrews was proved and passed for record. The executors' testimony was directed to issue to the petitioners, as executors, they giving bond in the sum of $15,000, without surety, to pay debts and legacies.

All parties in interest assenting thereto, notice was waived and, on the petition of Annie M. Ward, the will of A. Herbert Ward was proved and ordered recorded to petitioner, as sole executrix, she giving $500 per personal bond in the sum of $500, to pay debts and legacies.

The December meeting of the public school committee, signing the full board being present, James A. Taber was re-elected trustee officer and Mrs. Elizabeth A. Peckham was re-appointed to take the school census for 1915. Plans were discussed for the bettering of school conditions.

Those going early to Newport Monday morning experienced great difficulty in keeping their horses on their feet, the snow and sleet making slipping traveling.

The Christmas festival of the Church of the Holy Cross will be held Monday evening.

The driver of the automobile stopped and rendered such assistance as he could.

HOW A SNAKE TRAVELS.

[Youth's Companion.]
A snake moves along the ground by contracting the ribs on one side of his body and separating those on the other side. This forms one curve. Another contraction takes place at the end of the expanded side, and bends the body in the opposite direction.

Thus, there is a series of alternate contractions and spreadings of the numerous ribs throughout the length of the reptile as it lies on the ground. When the snake is in motion, some part of the body must secure itself against a rough or projecting surface, from which the forward part can be impelled. Then the forward part is designed to a new position. The row of shields along the snake's belly is very quick in seizing upon the slightest projection, so that any rough surface affords a good track.

In climbing a tree, the snake uses the same process. It must find points of vantage for its curves. It cannot possibly wind itself spirally round a tree.

BIGGEST MORNING SALE.

Large Number of Seals Disposed of by Active Helpers at Postoffice.

The Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis had two of its best helpers in the seal sale at the postoffice this morning. These young women were on duty Saturday morning, when the large sale of 1,056 was made. One of them said the sale was made this morning, but it improved wonderfully and at noon 1,212 seals had been sold, the largest number ever disposed of in any morning in Newport. Misses Arlene Jacobs and Maisee Dring were on duty in the morning, and Misses Haire and Wood in the afternoon.

Monday evening Boy Scouts sold 187, probably the largest number any evening since the Scouts have been at the booth. Though there are a few exceptions, the boys are not doing as well this year as last. The public schools are behind the record also, but there are still two days in which to dispose of the seals or seals. The secretary is encouraged, as an order from Fort Gracie came in this morning and took 1,000 of the seals. This fort did well last year in the seal sale, and was surprised that they should not have done better this year. The Treasurer's report cannot be made until the 31st, but it is against a government order. They can be obtained, however, by the boys, at the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Lyon, have received a supply, and they are in danger of running short, and it is hoped that more will reach this condition in the near future. Last year Newport was first in this state for the size of its sales, but it was not disposed of Newport will lose its envied place to some other city.

INDICATIONS OF NEED.
New Appeals to Santa Claus Brief But From Different Parts of the City.

This morning brought two more Santa Claus letters to the Daily News Office. They are only brief, but they come from different sections of the city, showing that the poor are in many neighborhoods. The letters are as follows:

"Dear Santa Claus—I am a poor boy twelve years old my mother and father are out of work and I would like a pair of rubber boots size 2."

"Dear Santa—Will you please send me something for Xmas I am a boy 7 years. I live in . . ."

These letters, like the others, were handed over to the officials at the postoffice, who are disposed of them to one of the charitable organizations of the city. They are only a few of the indications of need among the people. The organizations are over-taxed with the Christmas season, but they continue to delve deeper and deeper into their treasuries and provide more food and clothing for those in want.

FISHING BUSINESS SLACK.
The fish business is slackening up a bit, only a few boats are out Monday and they did not have large catches. The Massicot had two barrels of cod and haddock for the Chesboro Brothers Company, the Macomber & Nickerson Company's boat Noyes caught four barrels of flounders, which she put up at what Mr. C. B. Macomber had one barrel of flounders for the markets. The boats of C. B. Anderson and the Newport Fishery were not out either Monday or Tuesday, as it is heavy weather outside.

ACCIDENT ON CONSOLIDATED ROAD.

Responsible for Late Arrival of the Fall River Car Sunday Night.

Delayed Newport Residents Lucky to Find Trolley Waiting, and Reach Here Monday Morning.

The reason for the late arrival of the Fall River car Sunday night, or rather Monday morning, was disclosed late Monday afternoon, when it was learned that a serious accident on the Consolidated road between Providence and Fall River was responsible for the delay. On this train, which connected with the last car for Newport, leaving Fall River at 11:30, were a number of civilian mechanics employed at the Turpentine Station, and also other Newport residents.

When the trolley was upon the road, it was suddenly stopped by a car, which was waiting for its power, suddenly snapped and as the car went out, the trolley was thrown to set up a series of frightful crashes along the tracks, and then to wind around the car wheels, causing great damage and other electric wires. Passengers had vision of a wreck, and became so badly frightened that they were unable to get out, and for without knowing just what to do.

Cool heads began to quiet the crowd as the trolley was thrown out, and then followed a long two and a half hour waiting on the track. Communication was reached with Fall River, and finally a locomotive was sent up the track towards Providence, and towed the trolley out. The passengers who lived in Fall River, having departed for home, while those bound for Newport were relieved to find that the trolley was still waiting for them, although it was nearly 1:30 in the morning.

This Newport car always waits for the Consolidated train from Providence, and although the mechanic and conductor did not know just what was the matter, they surmised a wreck somewhere and were ordered to wait until the passengers arrived. The train from Newport was made the people bound for this city reaching here at 3:45.

ART ASSOCIATION LECTURES
Miss Anna F. Hunter and Others Secured for Three Dates in January.

The Art Association of Newport has arranged three attractive lectures for January. The first is to be given in the Channing parlors on the evenings of January 13, 14 and 15, by Miss Anna F. Hunter of the Rhode Island School of Design, her subject being "The Fascination of Egypt." Illustrated by 114 slides. The subject-matter of the main title are given as follows: 1. Prelude of the Nile; 2. The City of the Dead; 3. The Arabian Nights; 4. The Edge of the Desert; 5. Palm Tree, Village and Sunset; Mr. Rowe is regarded as one of the most attractive lecturers in this country, and a large gathering of members of the Association and their friends is expected on this occasion.

The second lecture, on the evening of January 18, in the galleries of the Association, will be by Mr. Desmond Fitzgerald of Boston, his subject being "The Art of the Renaissance in Germany." Illustrated with numerous colored slides, Mr. Fitzgerald visited Newport a few years ago and gave such a delightful lecture at that time that he will receive a warm welcome from members of the Association.

The third lecture, in the nature of an "informal talk," by Miss Anna F. Hunter, in the galleries, is set for the afternoon of January 23. The title will be "The Art of the Renaissance in Mexico." Illustrated with sketches, photographs, pottery, costumes, etc. Miss Hunter, who visited Mexico several years ago, made a number of interesting sketches and acquired a number of things which she expects to illustrate the "talk," which is a most valuable and charming as an artist will undoubtedly cause the "talk" to prove of unusual interest.

A series of lectures for the remaining months of the winter, it is understood, will be announced later.

The Art School, under the direction of Miss Helena Sturtevant, now has a considerable membership. Some remarkable work is being done by the students in the life class, which will be exhibited with some of the work in the gallery during the early spring.

THE MILLING MACHINE.
School Committee Has Power to Sell Without Reference to Other Bodies.

The finance committee of the School Committee held a meeting Monday evening, at which Mr. School Superintendent was called upon to give his opinion on the authority of the board to dispose of the milling machine at the industrial school.

It has been purchased for the school, and the money had not been used for the purchase and the machine was in the keeping of the school department. It could be sold by order of the school, it was decided, and the school board has been replaced by a more modern one.

CHRISTMAS GREENS.
No Shortage of Trees, and Beautiful Holly Found in Tiverton Woods.

There is no shortage of Christmas trees in Newport, as the supply is abundant. The Tiverton woods are full of beautiful holly, and the supply is abundant.

—The Hartford Life Insurance Company, through J. R. Pearson, a resident of this city, has secured a lease of the building of George J. Pearson, for $700, the full amount of the lease. This firm also held the lease on the building, and the lease was secured by the firm.

—Manager Fitzgerald of the Father Mathews has heard that the officials of Providence intend to bring down the best players from the state capital to take a defeat on the Father Mathews' team. These players are the pick of the Trinity team in Providence, and are all high scorers, so that the Tabs will need to watch every man on the team. As usual, there will be dancing after the game.

What the administration regards as favorable results obtained from dividing the yard at the New York navy yard between a military commandant and an industrial manager, both naval officers, has led Secretary of the Navy, Daniels, to order Chief Constructor Richard M. Watt to the Norfolk navy yard as industrial manager. Rear Admiral Frank E. Beatty has already been ordered to assume duties as commandant of the yard January 4.

Chief Constructor Watt will begin his new duties January 11, and the separation of the military and industrial features of administration will be made there. This places the two largest yards under this system of dual management. Naval Constructors William G. Du Bois and George S. Radford will act as assistants to Chief Constructor Watt in administering the industrial work of the yard. It is the desire of the department to increase as far as possible the construction work in this yard, and with the great amount of docking there it is considered that it will be of great advantage to the service to have naval constructors in direct charge of the work.

As a result of these orders, Naval Constructors Horatio C. Gilmore and Sidney M. Henry, now at the Norfolk yard, have been ordered to Washington, the former on duty connected with the Department of Justice and the latter to take the place in the bureau of construction and repair at the department, made vacant by Constructor John D. Barrett, now on duty in connection with the Department of Justice.

Watt will take Commander Du Bois' place in the bureau of construction and repair, and Naval Constructor William N. McEntee will succeed Naval Constructor David W. Taylor, recently detailed as chief of the bureau of construction and repair at the Washington navy yard.

BIGGEST MORNING SALE.

Large Number of Seals Disposed of by Active Helpers at Postoffice.

The Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis had two of its best helpers in the seal sale at the postoffice this morning. These young women were on duty Saturday morning when the large sale of 1,000 seals was made. One of them said the sale was low this morning, but it improved wonderfully and at noon 1,212 seals had been sold, the largest number ever disposed of in any morning in Newport. Misses Arlene Jacobs and Mabel Dineen were on duty in the morning, and Misses Haire and Wood this afternoon.

Monday evening Boy Scouts Donald Hay and Fred Malar sold 167, probably the largest number any evening since the Scouts have been at the booth. Though there are a few exceptions, the boys are not doing as well this year as formerly. The public schools are behind their record, also, but there are still two days in which to dispose of the seals on hand.

The secretary is understood, as an order from Fort Greble came in this morning and took 1,000 of the seals. This lot did well last year in the sale, and it was surprising that they should not have placed their order this season. The Training Station cannot tell the seals, as it is against government order. They can be obtained, however, by the boys at the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association.

Two scores, Carr's and Hall & Lyon, have renewed their supply, as they were in danger of running short, and it is hoped that more will reach this condition in the near future. Last year Newport was first in the state for the sale of seals, but it is more or less dependent on Newport will lose its envied place to some other city.

INDICATIONS OF NEED.

New Appeals to Santa Claus Brief But From Different Parts of the City.

This morning brought two more Santa Claus letters to the Daily News Office. They are only brief, but they come from different sections of the city, showing that the poor are in many neighborhoods. The letters are as follows:

"Dear Santa Claus—I am a poor boy twelve years old my mother and father is out of work and I would like a pair of rubber boots size 6."

"Dear Santa—Will you please send me something for Xmas I am a boy of 7 years. I live in—"

These letters, like the others, were handed over to the officials at the postoffice, who disposed of them to the city. They are only brief, but they come from different sections of the city, showing that the poor are in many neighborhoods. The letters are as follows:

FISHING BUSINESS SLACK.

The fish business is slackening up a bit; only a few boats came in Monday and they did not have large catches. The Massachusetts had two barrels of cod and headlock for the Chesboro Brothers Company, the Macomber & Dickinson Company, and four barrels of flounders, which she put up at Long wharf, and B. Macomber had one barrel of flounders for the market. The boats of C. E. Anderson and the Newport Fishing were not out either Monday or today, as it is heavy weather outside.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. H. J. Bennett and family have gone to New York.

—To all appearances the powder house on the City wharf is completed, though the carpenters still have some work on the inside.

—A carload of dorles came in this morning. Two of the boats go to C. E. Anderson while the other four are for Tallman & Mack.

—Three boys seen to have left the city Sunday evening, their whereabouts are at present unknown. It is anticipated that they will not find it so easy to secure work as they have anticipated.

—The police had two men for the court this morning, on drunkenness charges. One was fined $2 and costs, which he paid, but the other imprisoned, a policeman and has been given three days in jail to think about it.

—Monday's rain caused a settlement in the sidewalk in front of the Lawton estate on Broadway, where a ditch was dug last fall for a sewer pipe. The pipe was lifted by a police lantern Monday night, and filled in today.

—Mr. and Mrs. Julius Engel, formerly of this city and now of Brooklyn, announce the engagement of their younger daughter, Virginia, to Herman Weiner of this city. The marriage will take place in Brooklyn next month.

—The Gloucester High School basketball team, which had a game with the Rogers five for Monday, December 22, has cancelled, and Manager Pearson has cancelled the Rhode Island Commercial School team for a game Saturday, December 26, in its place.

—Chief Electrician David Rizer of battleship Delaware is on a short leave here, visiting his family for the first time since his duty in Mexican waters. Like other members of the crew, he has been called back to the ship Sunday, but happily for him is only two hours on his duty.

—The Hartford Fire Insurance Company through J. B. Parsonage & Son, resident agents have settled the loss of the bungalow of George J. Reagan, for $700, the full amount of the policy. This firm also held the insurance on the building belonging to A. J. Gordon, and the machinery of A. Sarnay, damaged in Saturday night's fire.

—Manager Fitzgerald of the Father Mathew team heard that the Colonials of Providence intend bringing down the best players from the state capital to take a defeat on the last Father Mathew basketball team Wednesday evening. These players are the best of the Army and Navy in Providence, and are all high scorers, so that the Tads will need to watch every man on the team. As usual, there will be dancing after the game.

ACCIDENT ON CONSOLIDATED ROAD.

Responsible for Late Arrival of the Fall River Car Sunday Night.

Delayed Newport Residents Lucky to Find Trolley Waiting, and Reach Here Monday Morning.

The reason for the late arrival of the Fall River car Sunday night, or rather Monday morning, was disclosed late Monday afternoon, when it was learned that a serious accident on the Consolidated road between Providence and Fall River was responsible for the delay. On this train, which consisted of the first car for Newport, leaving Fall River at 11:30, were a number of civilian musicians employed at the Tropic Station, and also other Newport residents.

Somewhere between Providence and Fall River the trolley wire, upon which the Consolidated train depended for its power, suddenly snapped and all the lights went out. The five big engines began to set up a series of frightful clatters along the tracks, and then to wind around the curve wheels, causing short circuits and other electrical troubles. Passengers had visions of a wreck and became so badly frightened that there was a stampede in the car, in which men and women fought to get out and without knowing just what to do.

Cool heads began to quiet the crowd as the flashes caused by the five big engines began to die out, and then followed a long two-and-a-half hours' waiting on the track. Communication was reached with Fall River, and finally a locomotive was sent up the track towards Providence, and towed the string of cars in. The passengers who lived in Fall River hastily departed for home, while those bound for Newport were relieved to find that the trolley car was still waiting for them, although it was nearly 2:30 in the morning.

This Fall Newport car always waits for the Consolidated train from Providence, and although the motorman and conductor did not know just what was the matter, they surmised a wreck somewhere and were ordered to wait until the passengers arrived. The first Newport car was made, the people bound for this city reaching here at 3:15.

OPENING RAILWAYS.

German Restoring Lines Destroyed by French in Their Retreat.

AMSTERDAM, via London, Dec. 22.—The Telegraf learns from Berlin that the Germans have restored the railways from Charleville in the department of the Ardennes, to the Meuse, to Rheims, and from Hirson, in Alsace, to Montmedy, in the department of the Meuse, 25 miles north of Verdun, which the French destroyed when retreating early in the war.

The railways to Givet, in the department of Ardennes, on the Belgian border, according to the same despatch, will be opened shortly, while the bridges on the Meuse, near Lunenburg, Flize and Donohery, all south-east of Metz, are again open.

Blocked tunnels near Montmedy and Mohon, the last named point just south of Metz, have also been put into condition to be utilized.

EVERYBODY SATISFIED.

Purchase of the New York Club Expected to be Made Tonight.

CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—A man whom President Ban Johnson of the American League says is a "wonder as a team leader" has been selected as manager of the New York club, the purchase of which is expected to be completed here today. Colonel Jacob Rupert, Jr., and Captain T. L. Huston, the prospective purchasers of the New York club, have been prevailed upon to accept the manager whom President Johnson selected. It was learned today, after Hugh Jennings, leader of the Detroit club, had declined the offer to manage the Yankees.

"Everybody is satisfied," said President Johnson, "and I hope to make an announcement, possibly before tonight, that the deal has been closed."

Star players for every position except third base and catcher are reported to have been offered the prospective purchasers of the club as a part of the plan to build up the team, but President Johnson declines to confirm this. The players, it is said, are to be contributed by the other clubs in the league.

Vote on the Liquor Question May Mean Defeat for Many Congressmen.

Little Chance of Proposed Amendment Becoming Law—Washington Fears Prohibition.

[Washington correspondence of the News.]

WASHINGTON, Dec. 21.—Members of the House of Representatives do not relish the idea of going up against a vote of the prohibition question, but it was determined by the powers that be in the House that such a vote should be taken. It is not a nice Christmas Eve in close statistics was passed election two years from now may be determined by the vote they cast for or against the prohibition amendment. There is no possibility that the prohibition amendment could pass by a two-thirds vote in the House, and even if it did pass the House it would probably not pass in the Senate especially when there is so little time for public business in the short session. Many members of Congress think that it is merely a political play bringing forward prohibition at this time, and there is considerable feeling expressed among members of the House who believe that they will be seriously affected personally by a vote on the liquor question.

It is true also that a vote is to be taken on the woman suffrage amendment, but it will not make much difference in the political fortunes of members how they vote on the liquor question. All who are in a strong woman suffrage sentiment can vote for the suffrage proposition without any fear that it will affect them politically. Even those who vote against woman suffrage will not be in danger of being ousted by a vote. This was shown in the last election, when nearly every man who was marked for slaughter by the suffragists was re-elected.

But when the liquor question is introduced, it is a different matter. The prohibitionists will remember the men who voted against the amendment. The liquor interests will remember the men who voted for it. Two years will not be long enough for these deeply interested people to forget how men voted on such an important question. The effect of the vote on the prohibition amendment will be shown in the election two years hence.

A large part of the city of Washington, particularly that part which does not believe in prohibition, fears that prohibition may be voted upon the district of Columbia by the national Congress almost any time. A few years ago a drastic liquor law was passed by the Senate. It was modified in conference before it became a law, but ever since it became a law there have been attempts by the liquor interests to get around it. The administration of the law has not been carried out in good faith. The result has been as it always is in such cases, and now the promoters of that law are tending every eye toward total prohibition in Washington. And the probabilities are that they will be successful in it.

Congressman Fear of Wisconsin has appointed himself the general critic of river and harbor appropriations and is constantly on the job. He took the first opportunity that was afforded at the beginning of the short session to reiterate what he had said before and to add much more to the same effect. His speech was the opening gun against a river and harbor bill at this session.

During discussion as to whether the Senate should investigate a newspaper charge Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire remarked: "During my term of service in the Senate I have twice been called before committees in the Senate that were investigating myself. I believe I was on oath on both occasions to give testimony that I had not seen any of the things that had been charged in the newspapers. The investigations which Senator Gallinger referred to never amounted to anything and few people recollect what they were about."

During discussion of the District of Columbia appropriation bill Congressman Mondell was advocating liberal appropriations for the establishment of a bathing beach for the people of Washington.

"I happen to be the father of a young son," said the Wyoming Congressman, "who is ambitious in the direction of bathing in something besides a bathtub, as small boys generally are. He has been chased out of Rock Creek park on the ground that the creek was not a proper place for him to bathe."

"That isn't bathing; that's swimming," remarked Congressman Campbell of Kansas, who can remember that no small boy ever bathed, but soos in swimming.

Action of German Socialist Condemned by the Party Organ.

AMSTERDAM, via London, Dec. 22.—A Berlin despatch published in the Telegraf confirms the report that Dr. Georges Weill, the Socialist member of the Reichstag for Metz, who was with Jean Leon Juarez, the French Socialist leader, when the latter was shot in Paris, volunteered for service in the French army August 3 last. Dr. Weill's disappearance from Germany had caused considerable comment. The Vorwaerts, the organ of the German Socialists, strongly condemns the action of Dr. Weill.

DEBATE OF LATE YEARS.

details of the resolution are not satisfactory," he said "let us amend it. What we seek is a scientific remedy for a deep-seated scientific organic disease. We see a disease which is detaching our youth, through the national organized liquor traffic in its search for profits. And we seek a remedy."

Support for the rule and opposition to the resolution was expressed by Representative Lennox of Wisconsin. He said the states have full power over the liquor question, "and only a small minority have passed prohibition laws."

Representative Pou of North Carolina, speaking against the rule, said: "I believe we are lighting the fires of a controversy which will burn in this country for a generation. In my judgment there is not a man now in this hall who will be alive when the last state ratifies this amendment."

Mr. Pou said he favored prohibition, but believed "the state is the largest efficient unit in the enforcement of a prohibition law."

Representative Kent of California argued that the states are competent to deal with the question, without federal interference.

Representative Coady of Maryland opposed the proposal, because of loss of revenue.

Representative Howard of Georgia announced his intention of supporting both the rule and the resolution. "The loss of revenue will be more than made up by the money saved in the administration of justice, and in liberating the people of this country from one end to the other," said he.

SET FOR JANUARY 2.
Agitation in Congress on Preparedness of War Postponed.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Agitation in Congress of the question of preparedness of the United States for war will go over at least until after the holidays. The House military affairs committee had originally planned to have Representative Gardner of Massachusetts testify on the subject before it today, but the hearing has been postponed until January 2. Mr. Gardner has a resolution pending in the House which would provide for the creation of a commission to investigate the military preparedness of the nation, and he recently explained his project before the naval affairs committee.

AS TO NEWLANDS'S PROPOSAL.
Open Question Whether It Will be Urged Upon Congress for Action.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Whether the administration shall urge upon Congress for action at this session Senator Newlands's proposal for the creation of a commission to direct all federal waterway control and improvements remained today an open question. Although the plan was considered at a conference at the White House last night between President Wilson, members of his cabinet and others, no decision was reached, the matter having been left for determination at a future meeting.

While the President and the committee of the cabinet consisting of Secretaries Garrison, Redfield, Lane and Houston, generally approve the plan, the question whether, because of the shortage of the session of Congress, any attempt should be made to press the matter immediately will be taken up for decision at a date yet to be determined upon. The committee reported to the conference the result of its inquiry into the Newlands plan.

Under the Newlands bill appropriations for waterway improvements would amount to $80,000,000 annually for 10 years. It is proposed, however, that an amendment be submitted in the Senate to the bill, so that the bill to provide now only for creation of a commission to investigate the broad waterway scheme outlined.

AMENDMENT TO BE MADE.
Action on Immigration Bill May be Deferred Until After Holidays.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—Debate on the immigration bill, pending in the Senate, was continued today, with indications that action on the measure will be deferred until after the holidays. This was made practically certain as a result of the announced intention of Senator Lewis of Illinois to introduce an amendment to eliminate from the bill the proposed literacy test for aliens. He had served notice on the Senate to that effect, following a conference with President Wilson. The President's opposition to this test, in the opinion of several Democratic Senators, leaves the fate of the bill hanging in the balance. Sponsors of the measure assert that to strike out the literacy test provision would cause the defeat of the bill, because no substitute method of restriction has been agreed upon.

CONFERENCE ON LEVER BILL.
Opponents Say License Measure is Unconstitutional.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—The Lever bill, providing for federal licensing of cotton and grain warehouses is on its way to conference of the Senate and House. The measure, a substitute for a Senate bill which would have applied only to cotton warehouses, passed the House late yesterday, after a brief discussion, by a vote of 218 to 97. Advocates of the bill contend that it will greatly enhance confidence in agricultural products while its opponents assert it is unconstitutional.

Representative Lever of South Carolina, author of the bill, in a statement today declared that the measure will result in uniformity of warehouse receipts for agricultural products and enable farmers for the first time to know the class or grade of his product and their commercial value. The measure has the approval of the administration.

ORDERED TO MEXICO.
The Delaware Being Hurriedly Prepared at Norfolk.

Battleship Delaware, at Norfolk, received orders Monday to proceed to Mexican waters Sunday and is being hurriedly prepared for the voyage. The order was not expected by any one, being a thought that the ship would remain at Norfolk for several weeks. Christmas furloughs of the officers and men will be few and brief. The reason for the order is not known at Norfolk, but it is thought that it is to replace one of the returning warships.

NEW YORK, Dec. 22, Wall Street.—The market opened with Amalgamated Copper 53½, American Locomotive 22½, Anaconda 35½, Atchafalaya 22½, Santa Fe 92½, Canadian Pacific 158, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul 87½, Erie 22½, Missouri Pacific 19, Northern Pacific 99½, Pennsylvania 197, Reading 145, Rock Island preferred 2, Southern Pacific 33, Union Pacific 116½, United States Steel 48½, Western Union 56½.

19:30.—Weakness of United States Steel was again the feature of today's early stock market operations. It fell to 48½, or within a fraction of its minimum price, on comparatively large dealings. The rest of the list also reflected further pressure. St. Paul, Northern Pacific and Great Northern recording new low quotations, with declines in Union and Southern Pacific, Erie first and the Coppers. The most notable exceptions to the tendency were Reading and Lehigh Valley, both gaining a point on the court decision late yesterday absorbing the latter from restraint of trade.

Noon.—Trading increased substantially before the end of the first hour and the market strengthened in the more important issues. Sentiment was inclined to moderate optimism, the increased dividend on Central Leather being a factor in that connection.

Sale of the stock of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway Co. was reargued as a further step towards the reorganization of that property. Such weakness as existed towards mid-day was chiefly in the low priced Coppers and a few specialties, although Western Union and Brooklyn Transit also fell under recent low prices. Bonds were steady.

COWS DECLARED HEALTHY.

Cattle in Lower Section of City Free From Foot and Mouth Disease.

Mr. Isaac L. Sherman reported to the Daily News late Monday afternoon that the cattle in the lower section of the city had been inspected during the day, and found to be perfectly free from the foot and mouth disease. The News learned Saturday that a report was in circulation that cows in the southern district were infected and milk from them was being peddled. It was impossible to secure any names, and the matter was reported to Mr. Sherman for just what he has expressed gratitude for having the report brought to his attention, and said he would have an examination made at once. Accordingly at its completion Mr. Sherman has informed the News that the reports had no foundation for the cattle in that section have been pronounced absolutely healthy. This statement will naturally be welcome to those people who were becoming disturbed, even before the News learned of the rumors.

As well as finding the cows in good health, the investigation located the source of the report. This was traced back to a man who was temporarily responsible for the statements which he made, but which repeated by others, repetition as usual seemed to give grounds of reliability.

He paid a high tribute to the industry and wisdom of the missionaries and assured his hearers that the Gospel was the best and most effective method of civilization. The Brotherhood showed its appreciation of the address by a unanimous vote of thanks and a resolution of appreciation.

TOWED TO TORPEDOSTATION

Testing Barge to be Overhauled in New York and Then Resume Work.

The torpedo testing barge which has been on station off Conanicut Park since early last spring has slipped her moorings and been towed to the Torpedo Station, the rigors of winter having made it undesirable to continue the work longer. At present the barge is tied up at a slip at the station, but early next month, about the first, she will be towed to New York, to undergo her overhaul period after the big ship leave. She will return here by March and go back to her station. The president, Rev. William E. Jones, appointed a committee consisting of Rev. Stanley C. Hughes, Rev. Franklin G. McKee, D. D. and Rev. William L. Ward to prepare a Christmas message to the people of Newport. The committee will meet on Monday, December 23, at 7:30 o'clock, at the residence of Rev. Jones, 128 Bellevue Avenue.

HEARING ON LOSS OF HORSE.

Sherman B. Brown Complains of the Slippery Thames Street Pavement.

Aldermen Hughes and Kirby, as a Special Committee, to Report Findings to the Full Board.

Aldermen Hughes and Kirby, as a Special Committee, to Report Findings to the Full Board. The committee to consider a complaint from Sherman B. Brown on the loss of his horse by falling on the Thames Street pavement, held a hearing in the aldermen's chamber, Monday evening. Mr. Brown said he was a cab driver, that he paid $150 for the horse, which slipped and fell in front of the Brownstone building and broke its hip, necessitating shooting. The purchase had been through a trustworthy Coggshall firm from a Providence dealer. He had had the horse a year last summer. The witness said the horse was well shod; he was driving carefully, but the pavement was very slippery. Although it was not dark, he was going to the Jameson boat and the horse was walking. There was a blockade in front of Eddy's and he had to stop for it, when the horse went down. Mr. Caswell assisted in getting the horse up, and down the wharf at Eddy's.

To the city solicitor, he said the pavement was slippery from the Government Landing to Mill street. The horse was 12 or 15 years old and weighed 1,100 lbs. and had come to a sudden stop, because of the blockade. Dr. Heard testified that he was called and found the horse down the "Cherry" way. There was a fracture of the thigh bone. He could do nothing and said the horse should be shot. Mr. Hazard was there and he expected him to shoot the animal. Witness knew nothing about the shoeing or the age of the horse. He did not know if the horse was worth anything at the time he saw it, and that was nothing.

Mr. F. A. Caswell came on the scene shortly after the accident, between 10 and 10:15, and it was 1:15 before the horse was shot. He helped get the horse down the wharf. John H. Greene, Jr., Mr. Brown's counsel, testified that he was telephoning in his office and saw Mr. Brown driving down the street. Saw him in front of Titus's and saw the horse go down the wharf. Brown was driving with a tight rein. The pavement was dry, but slippery. It seemed to be a "marked" point for horses to slip. He had seen eight or 10 fall there. When Donovan's dray came to take the horse away, the horses slipped in backing down the wharf, and one fell. Brown was coming down on a fast walk. He checked the horse by a sudden pull. Witness later qualified this by saying that he knew there was a block in front of Eddy's, but could not say how close the next wagon in front was, or if a driver was trying to cut in ahead.

Street Commissioner Hamilton said he had been to the location the same afternoon, and not knowing the exact spot where the fall occurred went over the whole locality from the Government Landing to Mill street. He found no place where there should have been an accident, as a well driven horse or more than could be expected on any permanent hard road. The pavement he found in perfect condition at the time, but he said all permanent pavements may be called slippery in a way that cannot be denied, and they require driving accordingly. He never heard that it was a particularly bad place in front of the Brownstone.

Mr. Julius Burdick of the highway department said the pavement at the location is not different from that at other points on the street, and he had never heard it contended that it was.

Mr. Greene summed up the case for the plaintiff, stating that Mr. Brown was a cabman, and that the case was a matter of negligence. He said that the horse was not properly shod, and that the driver was not careful. He said that the horse was not properly shod, and that the driver was not careful. He said that the horse was not properly shod, and that the driver was not careful.

City Solicitor Sullivan said it would be no test case unless the plaintiff should take the case to the jury. He said that the case was a matter of negligence, and that the horse was not properly shod. He said that the horse was not properly shod, and that the driver was not careful. He said that the horse was not properly shod, and that the driver was not careful.

BY WAY OF CORRECTION.

Mr. Wood Explains Connection of an Employee With Sarney Fire.

To the Editor of the Daily News: Dear Sir: I would ask you to kindly make a correction in your report of the fire at 233 Spring street on Saturday night. You mention a "dark individual" carrying a "dark" cash register, etc. As another paper in its report mentioned the fact that Charles Jackson had carried out the register, the impression will be conveyed to a public that he took the register with the intention of robbing it.

The facts are that Jackson, who is in my employment and had been working late at the store, wrapping goods, was on the way home, in the company of S. Woodhull, our engraver, when at the corner of Spring and Prospect Hill streets they saw smoke issuing from Sarney's. Rushing to the store, Woodhull and one pushed in the door and saw a pocket searchlight, which he carries for picking out packages while delivering at night, looked around the store for anything worth saving. He considered the register the most valuable thing in the store, and he took it. No one shouted "drop it," and Jackson made himself "scarce," but stayed until the fire was out. Jackson is an honest young fellow and bears a good reputation, which I think should not be allowed to be injured by any misinformation you may have received.

WILL BE READY IN FEBRUARY.

New Buildings at the Torpedo Station to be Complete in All Respects.

O'Shaunessy Assured That Appropriation of $1,500,000 Will be Carefully Considered.

Congressman O'Shaunessy is in receipt of a letter from Acting Secretary of the Navy, Franklin D. Roosevelt, in answer to his request that the department proceed with as much speed as possible in the construction of the new buildings at the Torpedo Station. Mr. O'Shaunessy called attention to the inadequate supply of torpedoes, and the absolute necessity of equipping the Torpedo Station with means to bring about a larger output per annum. The reply is as follows:

Your letter of the 30th ult., asking when the addition to the Torpedo Station at Newport will be finished and at about what time the machinery will be in operation, was duly received. "Understanding that your inquiry has reference to the three buildings the construction of which the Station force was recently authorized, have the honor to say that a report just received from Newport indicates that the buildings will be completed in all respects by the fifteenth of February, and that the machinery will be ready for operation within a short time after the completion of the buildings."

Congressman O'Shaunessy has also taken up with the chairman of the committee on naval affairs the consideration of his bill, providing for an appropriation of $1,500,000 for the Torpedo Station. Secretary Daniels has assured Mr. O'Shaunessy that the committee will keep his request in mind and carefully consider the matter.

Contrary to the usual procedure on government construction, there has been no shutting down on account of freezing of the water, but following the usual methods of the age the work is being pushed right along. Forms are being built and set, and the concrete is mixed and poured, just as if the weather and the frost in the air were not there. The buildings are of the modern reinforced concrete type, with great areas of glass in their walls, for perfect lighting. Hence, both in the rush of construction and in the type of building, the work is far in advance of the methods of progress in large industrial centres. It would seem as if the statement made in Washington relative to the early completion of the buildings was no mere boast, but there is serious intention of doing just what is said.

Washington does not intimate it, neither will any one in authority say so, but there is a firm belief that the war is planned to be a considerable part in the rush to have the plant in form for producing torpedoes. Congress appropriated the money and it is realized that in times such as these the Navy Department could not neglect every energy to make preparation for eventualities, such as preparing for an output of torpedoes as rapidly as they can be provided.

MORE MAIL BAGS PURCHASED.

Additional transportation equipment, including cars, automobiles and wagons, as well as several thousand emergency employees in the railway mail service and city delivery service, have been put into operation.

COWS DECLARED HEALTHY.

Cattle in Lower Section of City Free From Foot and Mouth Disease.

Dr. Isaac L. Sherman reported to the Health Department Monday afternoon that the cattle in the lower section of the city had been inspected during the day, and found to be perfectly free from the foot and mouth disease. The News learned Saturday that a report was in circulation that cows in the southern district were infected with the disease, and that the cattle in the lower section of the city had been inspected during the day, and found to be perfectly free from the foot and mouth disease. This statement will naturally be welcome to those people who were becoming disturbed, even before the News learned of the rumors.

As well as finding the cows in good health, the investigation located the source of the report. It was traced back to a man who was temporarily irresponsible for the statements which he made, but which repeated by others, repetition as usual seemed to gain grounds of reliability.

MISSIONARY WORK PAYS.

Chaplain Taylor Addresses Wesley Brotherhood on Power of the Gospel.

The Wesley Brotherhood of the Thames Street Methodist Episcopal Church at its monthly meeting Monday evening, had a good number present. After some matters of business had been considered the chairman introduced as the speaker of the evening, Chaplain Taylor of the Naval Training Station, who spoke under the suggestive words, "What hath God wrought." By numerous well known examples, such as the Hawaiian Islands, Chaplain Taylor showed the transforming power of the gospel and the actual progress of civilization, even within recent years. He paid a high tribute to the integrity and efficiency of the missionaries and assured his hearers that money given for missionary work is well invested. The Brotherhood showed its appreciation of the address by a unanimous vote of thanks and by electing Chaplain Taylor to honorary membership.

TOWED TO TORPEDO STATION

Testing Barge to be Overhauled in New York and Then Resume Work.

The torpedo testing barge which has been on station off Conant Park since early last spring has slipped her moorings and been towed to the Torpedo Station, the rigors of winter having made it undesirable to continue the work longer. At present the barge is tied up at a slip at the Station, but early next month—about the fifth—she will be towed to New York, to undergo her overhaul period after the big ship leaves. She will return here by March and go back to her station, to resume the work of testing new torpedoes and adjusting old ones. Since the barge has been used all previous records for adjusting torpedoes for service have been outdone, more having been given attention in a day than were formerly given an "O. K." in a month.

HEARING ON LOSS OF HORSE.

Sherman B. Brown Complains of the Slippery Thames Street Pavement.

Aldermen Hughes and Kirby, as a Special Committee, to Report Findings to the Full Board.

Aldermen Hughes and Kirby, as a committee to consider a complaint from Sherman B. Brown on the loss of his horse by falling on the Thames Street pavement, held a hearing in the aldermanic chamber Monday evening.

Mr. Brown said he was a cab driver, that he paid $100 for the horse, which slipped and fell in front of the Brownstone building and broke its hip, necessitating shooting. The purchase had been through Matthew Congess, a dealer in a Providence dealer. He had had the horse a year last summer.

The witness said the horse was well kept, he was driving carefully, but the pavement was very slippery, though it was not wet. He was going to the Jumestown boat and the horse was walking. There was a blockade in front of Eddy's and he had to stop for it, when the horse went down. Mr. Caswell assisted in getting the horse up, and down the wharf at River.

To the city solicitor, he said the pavement was slippery from the Government Landing to Mill street. The horse was 12 or 13 years old and weighed 1100 pounds. He had to come to a sudden stop, because of the blockade.

He heard testified that he was called and found the horse down the wharf-way. There was a fracture of the thigh bone. He could do nothing and said the horse should be shot. Mr. Hazard was there and he expected him to shoot the animal. Witness knew nothing about the shooting or the fate of the horse. He did not know what it was worth, except at the time he saw it, and that was nothing.

Mr. F. A. Caswell came on the scene shortly after the accident, between 10 and 10:15, and it was 1:15 before the horse was shot. He helped get the horse down the wharf.

John H. Caswell, Jr., Mr. Brown's counsel, testified that he was telephoning in his office and saw Mr. Brown driving down the street. Saw him in front of Tiltus's and saw the horse fall. There was a blockade. Brown was driving with a tight rein. The pavement was dry, but slippery. It seemed to be marked point for point to the place where the horse fell. When Dupont's dray came to take the horse away, the horses slipped in backing down the wharf, and one fell. Brown was coming down on a fast walk. He checked the horse by a sudden pull. Witness later qualified this by saying it was not a sudden pull, but a steady pull. Witness knew there was a block in front of Eddy's, but could not say how close the next wagon in front was, or if a driver was trying to cut in ahead.

Street Commissioner Hamilton said he went to the location the same afternoon, and not knowing the exact spot where the accident occurred, went over the whole locality from the Government Landing to Mill street. He found no place where there should have been an accident to a well driven horse, any more than could be expected on any permanent hard road. The pavement he found in perfect condition at the time, but he said all permanent pavements may be called slippery in a way. They cannot be otherwise, and they require driving accordingly. He never heard that it was a particularly bad place in front of the Brownstone.

Mr. Julius Burdick of the highway department said the pavement at that point in question is not different from that at other points on the street, and he had never heard it contended that it was.

Mr. Greene summed up the case for the plaintiff, stating that Mr. Brown was a cabman of 10 years experience; he was exercising due care, and it was the most slippery part of Thames street, where drivers are not to be blamed, except on the ground of negligence. Continuing, he said Mr. Brown is a poor man, the loss of the horse meant much to him, and as this was the first case brought because of a fall on the street it would be a test case.

City Solicitor Sullivan said it would be no test case unless the plaintiff showed that the pavement was slippery. The board would not be justified in recommending damages because Mr. Brown was a poor man, and at present no statement could be made as to what would be done, as it was simply a committee in session, which must report its findings to the board.

The meeting was adjourned when Nicholas P. Morrissey made an appeal to be heard, the statement that the board of Aldermen was not in session, or that the meeting had adjourned, making no difference. He said the long future with his chosen work and people, in the afternoon he left for a visit to his old home near Providence.

BY WAY OF CORRECTION.

Mr. Wood Explains Connection of an Employee With Barney Fire.

To the Editor of the Daily News:
Dear Sir: I would ask you to kindly make a correction in your report of the fire at 254 Spring street on Saturday night. You mention a "dark individual" entering through the store with a searchlight, carrying out the cash register, etc. Another paper in its report mentioned the fact that Charles Jackson had carried out the register, the impression will be conveyed to the public that he took the register with the intention of robbing it.

The facts are that Jackson, who is in my employment and has been working late at the store, wrapping goods, was on the way home in the company of S. W. Woodhull, our engraver, when at the corner of Spring and Prospect, 11th streets they saw smoke issuing from Barney's. Running to the store, Woodhull and one Jackson entered and on the scene pushed in the door and Jackson carried a pocket searchlight, which he carried for picking out packages while delivering at night, looked around the store for anything worth saving. He considered the register the most valuable thing and carried it to the street. No one shouted "drop it," nor did Jackson make himself "scarce," but stayed until the first was out. Jackson is an honest young fellow and bears a good reputation, which I think should not be allowed to be injured by any misinformation you may have received.

WILL BE READY IN FEBRUARY.

New Buildings at the Torpedo Station to be Complete in All Respects.

O'Shaunessy Assured That Appropriation of $1,600,000 Will be Carefully Considered.

Congressman O'Shaunessy is in receipt of a letter from Acting Secretary of the Navy Franklin D. Roosevelt in answer to his request that the department proceed with as much speed as possible in the construction of the new buildings at the Torpedo Station. Mr. O'Shaunessy called attention to the inadequate supply of torpedoes, and the absolute necessity of equipping the Torpedo station with means to bring about a larger output per annum. The reply was as follows:

"Your letter of the 30th ult., stating when the addition to the Torpedo Station at Newport will be finished and at about what time the machinery will be in operation, was duly received. Understanding that your inquiry has reference to the three buildings the construction of which by the station force was recently authorized, I have the honor to say that a report just received from Newport indicates that the buildings will be completed in all respects by the fifteenth of February next and that the machinery will be ready for operation within a short time after the completion of the buildings."

Congressman O'Shaunessy has also taken up with the chairman of the committee on naval affairs the consideration of his bill, providing for an appropriation of $1,600,000 for the Torpedo Station. Secretary Daniels has assured Mr. O'Shaunessy that the committee will keep his request in mind and carefully consider the matter.

Contrary to the usual procedure on government construction, there has been no shutting down on account of freezing weather, but following the usual methods of the army, the work is being pushed right along. Forms are being built and set, and the concrete is mixed and poured, just as if there were no frost in the air. The buildings are of the modern reinforced concrete type, with great quantities of glass in their walls, for effect lighting. Hence, both in the rush of construction and in the type of building, the work resembles the modern methods of progress in large industrial centres. It would seem as if the situation made in Washington relative to the "early completion" of the buildings was no idle remark, but that there is serious intention of doing just what is said.
